Lauren Shumpert

Do you get to work with any interesting equipment?

Do hands on work.

What is the most valuable lesson you've learned from this experience?

What do you want to do as a career?

Do you think you might want a career that involves research?

Has this experience changed your ideas about what research is and how it's done?

What did you learn in taking this research course?

What are you going to do after you graduate?

Anna Herbert, a student from Asheville, said:

The hands-on learning experience it provided through being able to see how policy was implemented and read past newsletters on our website

Dear Alumni and Friends,

We are deeply grateful to all our friends and donors for their support of the Department of Sociology.

In this newsletter, we celebrate the achievements of our faculty, students, alumni, and friends. We also provide an update on our current activities and plans for the future.

We hope you enjoy this edition of the newsletter and that you will continue to stay involved with the Department of Sociology.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Department of Sociology, UNC-Chapel Hill